

ROYAL CORNWALL SHOW 2026

set to celebrate the very best of Cornish agriculture

JUNE
4th - 6th
2026

Excitement is building for the return of the Royal Cornwall Show this June, as one of the South West's most anticipated events prepares to once again celebrate the people, produce and traditions at the heart of rural life.

Showground will come alive with the sights, sounds and spirit of Cornwall's countryside, welcoming farmers, producers, members and visitors from across the region and beyond for a showcase of agriculture, food, livestock and entertainment.

Renowned as a highlight of the agricultural calendar, the Royal Cornwall Show continues to champion excellence in British farming, and this year's livestock programme promises to be among the strongest yet.

The prestigious Beltex English National Show and the British Charollais South West Feature Show will both take place at this year's event, attracting leading exhibitors and top-quality stock from across the country. New for 2026, the introduction of the Interbreed Group of Three Championship will add an exciting new dimension to competition, celebrating consistency, quality and breed excellence in the show ring.

The cattle section will once again play a central role in the Show, proudly supported by headline sponsors Mole Valley Farmers. The partnership reflects a shared commitment to supporting British agriculture and recognising the dedication, expertise and care shown by farmers every day.

Beyond the livestock lines, the Royal Cornwall Show continues to provide an important opportunity to connect the public with food production and rural industries. The ever-popular Food & Farming Pavilion will offer visitors the chance to discover Cornwall's rich agricultural heritage, meet local producers and learn more about the journey from field to fork.

Food lovers can also look forward to the new Cornish Dairy Co Cookery Theatre, where some of the region's leading chefs will showcase the very best local ingredients through live demonstrations and inspiring seasonal dishes.

Meanwhile, the Main Ring programme promises entertainment for all ages, with the thrilling horseback displays of The Knights of Middle England returning alongside the fast-paced excitement of traditional scurry racing.

Mark Stoddart, CEO and Secretary of the Royal Cornwall Agricultural Association, said: "There is a real sense of excitement building as we look ahead to this year's Show. We are incredibly proud to provide a platform that showcases the very best of Cornish farming, heritage and agriculture."

"The Show is a chance to celebrate our industry, connect with the public and highlight the passion and dedication that underpins everything we do."

Whether attending as a long-standing member, part of the farming community or a first-time visitor, the Royal Cornwall Show 2026 promises an unforgettable celebration of rural Cornwall and remains a date firmly marked in the county's calendar.
